Come On Along! Lamar Alexander's Journey As Governor

An Exhibition from the Tennessee State Museum in Cooperation with Vanderbilt University

Thematic Description:

A traveling exhibition based on a display at the main library at Vanderbilt University in 2011-2012, which highlighted the years that Lamar Alexander served as Governor of Tennessee (1979-1987). It includes the campaigns of 1974 and 1978, and the circumstances surrounding the early swearing-in that took place in January 1979.

Exhibit Description and Content:

The exhibition will consist of nine "banner-up" graphic panels, five artifact cases, and two touch screens.

The panels will basically present a chronological interpretation: (1) Title panel; (2) Deciding to Run; (3) "Getting the Talk Right": Campaigning; (4) "Serious Stuff": Early Swearing-In; (5) Governor, 1979-1983; (6) The First Lady; (7) Governor, 1983-1987; (8) Homecoming '86; (9) Six Months Off: After 1987.

The cases will contain artifacts such as campaign memorabilia, Governor Alexander's campaign signature plaid shirt, a pair of boots he used in his walk across Tennessee, the key to the Executive Office mailed to Governor Alexander by Governor Blanton, the 1982 acceptance speech, and an assortment Homecoming '86 memorabilia.

Depending on the venue, high security items, such as Mrs. Alexander's inaugural gown and a study painting for the Governor's official portrait, might be included.

The two touch screens will present an in-depth look at the Alexander gubernatorial years, through a digital program developed by Vanderbilt University.

Space occupied by the Exhibition:

A minimum of 500 square feet, to a maximum of 1,000 square feet, designed to contract or expand for each venue.

Security Needs: Moderate to High Security

Shipping: The exhibition will be transported by the Tennessee State Museum, with set-up and take-down by TSM staff.

Insurance: Provided by each venue while the exhibition is on site.

Cost: No cost for the first eight venues.

Lois and MJ,

Note that I'm trying to set up an exhibit meeting for Friday, 8 March.

And I really want to have Mary Skinner there, since she is more up-to-speed on the touch screens than anyone. I assume that you'll need to get this work on Mary's part agreed to by Leigh.

The anode program looks good, with a price tag of about $29,500, i.e., re-packaging the entire six-screen program into two units, with cabinets, and ongoing tech support.

Thanks,

Dan

Alice,

Thanks. We're still digging out from the EP work and crowds. We had over 30,000 people in a week, and there were many of us working twelve straight days (and into evenings each day).

But the interest and crowds were marvelous.

A meeting at a convenient time on the "Come On Along" exhibit would be most agreeable. Mary Skinner has been working with me at Anode on the touch screen program, and we very much need to have her at the meeting. I believe that she's going to be out of town the week of 10 March, but she and I could meet on Friday, 8 March, if that might work for you all.

I'll send this to Lois, too, in hopes that it might work with her schedule.

Thanks,

Dan

Dear Dan:

Hope all is well and I know what a fabulous success the National Archives exhibit was!

Rachel Albright, Tom Ingram & I would like to re-connect with you and Lois in the next few weeks with respect to the traveling Come On Along Exhibit.

With your permission, I'll have Tom's team suggest a few dates he is in Nashville and we could run them up the flag pole and get the team together to see how we can help, or to see how we can stay out of the way!

Thanks so much for your leadership in this - we really appreciate it.

Sincerely,
Alice

Alice,

I apologize for my tardiness in responding to you. I'm afraid that we're head over heels trying to get ready for the National Archives exhibit, which opens to the public here on 12 February.

We have, within the last week, received what I believe is final information from the touch-screen company, and are in the process of analyzing that. The touch-screen capability is essential to the success of the "Come on Along" traveling exhibition.

I understand that the Senator would like to have the exhibition open at the Museum of East Tennessee History in Knoxville. I understand from them that the earliest date that they could accommodate would be in August. We are proceeding with an August date in mind. If there are some dates in August 2013 that might be more convenient with you, please let me know.

Once we finish with the opening of the National Archives exhibit here, I shall devote myself in earnest to "Come On Along."

Dear Dan:

Thanks so much for your time earlier today. We are delighted to know that you will be working on organizing artifacts from the Come on Along exhibit to tour the state starting sometime later this summer and carrying forward for as long as demand exists!

Senator Alexander would like to be kept abreast of the museum tour schedule as it develops - please feel free to reach out to the team copied on this email as that develops.

Email from me to Janet, Lois, and Mary Skinner, 21 March 2013

Janet,

I understand that Lois would prefer the first week of April. With that in mind, I find a problem only with Wednesday, 3 April, when I shall be out of town.

Any other day that week would be fine.

And, as I just discussed with Lois (and since our last meeting with Tom and Rachel) Vanderbilt has agreed to let the State Museum use their touch screen program, and is agreeable to have the traveling exhibit credited as being presented by the State Museum, based on an exhibit organized by the Vanderbilt Library, 2011-2012.

They are very cooperative.

Subject: Follow-up meeting with Vanderbilt

All,

Tom Ingram has asked me to schedule a meeting between the Tennessee State Museum and with Vanderbilt to discuss several items regarding the Lamar Alexander Traveling Exhibit and to update them on the state of the project. This meeting will include Tom and Rachel Albright but before I reached out to Vanderbilt, I wanted to see if you all could give me several date options for you that would work. Tom will be back in Nashville some of the following weeks (let me know what might work best for you and I'll try to make this easy!):

Week of April 1st
Week of April 15th
Week of April 29th
Week of May 13th
Week of May 27th

Again, Tom will be here portions of the above weeks, but this is a starting point for us. Just take a look at your calendars and let me know a couple of options for you that will work for this meeting. Please let me know as soon as you can what might work.

Thanks so much!

Janet

Dear Dan:

The East Tn History Center Museum had a question about the Come on Along Exhibit.

If they have already contacted you (in the last week or so) you can disregard - otherwise would you care to call Cherel Henderson (museum director) at 865-215-8823.

This request came to us via Jane Chedester in Senator Alexander's Knoxville office. We let Jane know that we'd get the information to you, I haven't spoken to Cherel and do not know the specifics of the request but felt it would be best for you to answer her questions.

Let me know if you need anything from us. Best, Alice

Adam,

I'm sorry that I missed this email.

Let me run this around the block in the turnip truck (the dates). There are T's to cross and I's to dot, and both endeavors are above me.

I did get to come back the next day and see the Civil War exhibit. It is wonderful. I know (as you know I know) what it takes to pull this off. You and Michele and the other team members are to be congratulated...and I hope that you are being congratulated by those who should appreciate what you have done.

I'll be in touch.

Hello Dan,

I hope you are well! Thank you for coming over for the opening of Of Sword and Pen. I hope you enjoyed the evening. Also, thank you for facilitating the Tennessee State Museum loans; we could not have pulled off the exhibition without your support. Did you get a chance to see the show? If so, did you have any thoughts/suggestions? Always looking for feedback so as to allow our exhibitions to better connect with our audiences...

I can't believe we are approaching the two-month mark for opening of the Alexander exhibition. How are things going on that front?

I would like to propose Thursday, August 22, as our date for delivery and installation. Does that work with your production calendar? And given it is to remain on view through October, does Monday, November 4, work for pick-up? Let me know what will work for you, as I am trying to nail down our calendar and begin some promo efforts...

Thanks, again, Dan!

All the best,

Adam

Hello Dan,

I hope this message finds you well! I was curious to see how things were progressing with the Alexander exhibition. To confirm, we are still ready on this end to open the exhibition Labor Day weekend with a run through November. Is that timetable still workable for you?

Also, I had occasion to chat with one of Lamar's staff members, and she thought it would be helpful to have a list or description of what is going in the exhibition. As I recall, it was 8 banner stands, two cases of artifacts, and two touch screens. Is that correct? Can you elaborate, especially in regards to a list of possible artifacts?

Any information would be helpful, as I believe planning efforts are about to ramp up on this end... Thanks!
